

Obtain Complete Production Services for Your Books, Conference Proceedings, and More

AIP's expertise in print and online production extends to non-journal content such as technical and reference books, standards, conference proceedings, directories, magazines, newsletters, and brochures. With highly specialized desktop publishing design expertise, production capabilities, a robust online publishing platform, and relationships with numerous printers and designers, we can satisfy all of your special publication needs. Does your business depend on more than just journals? So does ours.

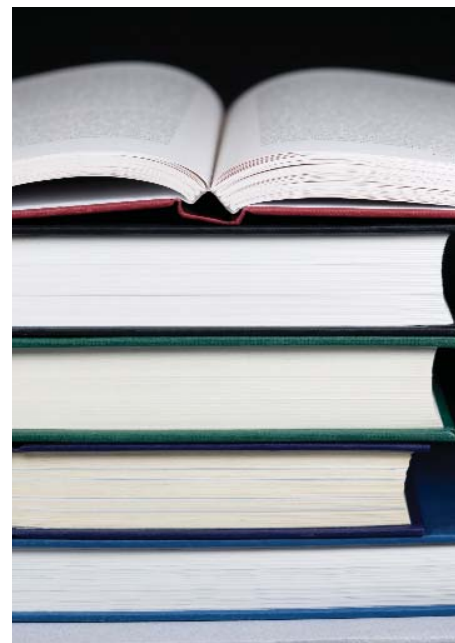

FOR A RELIABLE, KNOWLEDGEABLE PRODUCTION OF YOUR NON-JOURNAL CONTENT, COME TO AIP

Our specialized services for books, conference publications, and other types of special publications include copyediting, legacy data preparation; design, layout, and production services; indexing; and translation.

Quality Book Production. . . From the receipt of your manuscript to the production of a beautifully designed bound book, AIP can help you produce high quality scientific, technical and reference works, managing all stages of the process:

- Author file processing and formatting
- Black and white and color graphics processing
- Copyediting
- Page make-up and composition
- Proofreading
- Covers and front matter layout, design, and production
- Table of Contents generation
- Pagination
- Author and subject index creation
- Quality assurance
- Printer selection and printing arrangements
- Production trafficking
- Delivery

Legacy Data Preparation. . . AIP Publishing Services can help you leverage the value of your historical content, by digitizing all your legacy data for online access, digital libraries, or online storefronts. We can create PDFs of your print archives for online display, along with HTML headers and references to enable online searching and linking.

“We were absolutely satisfied with the cooperation of AIP, so we would like to thank you for the perfect services. We are going to organize the next MSMS session in two years' time, so we would be really glad to publish the proceedings with you again”

— Dr. Miroslav Mashian
Editor of AIP Conference
Proceedings Vol. 1070

Conference Proceedings Publication Services . . . If you're a conference organizer, you want the key findings at your meeting to reach the largest possible audience as quickly and inexpensively as possible. As a publisher of more than 1,130 proceedings, AIP Publishing Services is uniquely positioned to maximize the impact of leading-edge research by ensuring its quick, high-quality, and cost-effective dissemination worldwide—in print, online, and on CD-ROM. In addition to proceedings publication.

Design, Layout, and Production . . . AIP Publishing Services has a talented team of desktop and design professionals who understand the STM community. We can provide you with total project management for a wide variety of customized products. These include design and production of newsletters, magazines, book covers, jackets, and interior pages for your reference and trade books, handbooks, monographs, abstract programs, membership directories, annual and multi-year indexes, and conference proceedings.

Author and Subject Indexing . . .

AIP offers index preparation by professional scientists for a range of subjects spanning the physical sciences, astronomy, engineering, and many other scientific and technical fields. Whether for textbooks, proceedings, directories, anthologies, or general interest books, our indexes continue to receive high marks from editors and authors.

Translation Services . . . Expand your markets globally by distributing translations of your books, journals, magazines, or other critical publications. AIP's highly skilled translators are fluent in a variety of languages and subject areas.